I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! Synopsis

Synopsis

Robert Irwin will join the undisputed Jungle Queen, Julia Morris, when I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! kicks off its milestone 10th season from Sunday, 24 March on 10 and 10 Play.

A new batch of unsuspecting celebrities will soon depart for South Africa, and we are already screaming "Feed 'em to the crocs!" (That's just a metaphor of course... unless the producers aren't telling us something).

We are pulling out all the stops for the 10th season with the most hideous and hilarious trials ever seen in I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! history. Get set for heart-stopping adventure and nonstop fun and laughter at the expense of our campmates.

I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! Is an ITV Studio Australia production for Network 10.

Julia Morris

Host

Julia Morris is one of Australia's most accomplished and celebrated performers.

A quadruple threat, Julia has seamlessly moved between the stage and the screen for over 35 years.

Julia first appeared on Aussie TV at 17, singing on the talent show New Faces. By the mid-nineties Julia was a household name as a headlining stand-up and actor, with starring roles in comedy sketch favourite Full Frontal, night-time talk show In Melbourne Tonight and comedy panel show, Beauty and the Beast.

As a stand-up comedian, Julia has featured in every major comedy festival in the world, taking to the stage with Whoopi Goldberg, Richard Pryor and Robin Williams.

Moving to London in 2000, 'Lady JMo' featured in several British sitcoms, co-hosted Liquid News, a daily entertainment show on the BBC while also featuring on several comedy panels including Stephen Fry's QI.

Her 2001 solo show won the prestigious Herald Angel Award at the Edinburgh Comedy Festival. With a groundswell of comedy fans, Julia also won Time Out London's Comedy Performer of the Year.

In 2008, Julia and Australian Opera star David Hobson won celebrity singing show, It Takes Two.

Having won Best Australian Act at the Time Out Sydney 2009 Comedy Awards, Julia relocated her family to Los Angeles, where she studied with Hollywood acting coach, Lesly Kahn.

In late 2011 Julia returned home to become Australia's very first Celebrity Apprentice, raising nearly $200,000 for breast cancer research. By the following year, Julia was cast as the female lead, Gemma Crabb, in the hit drama House Husbands. The show established itself as an audience favourite, with Julia being nominated for Most Popular Actress in Australia's TV Week Logie Awards for five years in a row.

In 2013 Julia hosted Australia's Got Talent. The same year, her No Judgement stand-up tour won the Helpmann Award for Best Comedy.

I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! Host Bio

Julia has co-hosted Network 10's hit reality show, I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! since it first ventured into the jungle in 2015.

In 2020, Julia appeared as Kitten on The Masked Singer, making it to the top four in the semi-finals before being unmasked.

Following this, Julia released the Audible original, Julia Morris Makes it EASY as an audiobook and paperback out in bookstores through HarperCollins Australia.

In 2022, Julia was nominated for the TV Week Gold Logie for Most Popular Personality on Australian Television.

In 2023, Julia went head-to-head against four other comedians in a series of hilarious hijinks on Network 10's hit comedy show, Taskmaster and toured her new show, 75 Years In The Business, throughout Australia to sold out audiences.

Robert Irwin

Host

Robert Irwin and his abundance of energy is contagious. Along with a huge affinity for nature, Robert has a love for wildlife photography, conservation and teaching people about the importance of the natural world.

Robert's favourite animals are crocodiles. He educates thousands of guests about these apex predators by showcasing their natural behaviour in Australia Zoo's daily Wildlife Warrior's Show.

He is also part of the annual Australia Zoo crocodile research trip on the Steve Irwin Wildlife Reserve in far North Queensland, helping the experienced croc team catch and tag crocodiles with tracking devices before releasing them back into the wild. Robert is always keen to learn all he can about the biology and behaviours of these modern-day dinosaurs.

He is passionate about his work at Australia Zoo, especially when it comes to reptiles, learning from his mum, Terri, and the amazing zoo team. There is nothing he enjoys more than helping care for their huge family of animals, whether that's training a Komodo dragon, feeding a crocodile or wrangling a snake.

Robert continues to support conservation projects around the world with his family in locations all across the globe, from the African savannah to the Sumatran jungle, and the mangroves of far North Queensland. He is always enthusiastic to share his love of wildlife and wild places, in the hope that he may inspire others to help conserve our planet for the future.

With a long list of outstanding achievements already under his khakis, is there nothing this 20 yr old can't do? Notable achievements include four seasons of the television series Crikey! It's the Irwins, lead role in the television series Steve Irwin's Wildlife Warriors, co-created and provided illustrations for book series Robert Irwin: Dinosaur Hunter, 2009 Nickelodeon Kids Choice Awards winner: Biggest Greenie, 2019 winner Queensland Tourism Award: Young Achiever's Award, 2020 Wildlife Photographer Of The Year: People's Choice Award, 2020 Ambassador for His Royal Highness Prince William's: Earthshot Prize plus numerous award nominations, television appearances and conservation campaigns globally.

I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! Host Bio

Robert can either be found with a camera poised in front of his face lining up the perfect image, or mountain biking on his favourite trails around the Glass House Mountains.

In a match made in khaki heaven, the passionate conservationist, zookeeper, photographer, and presenter will swap Australia Zoo for the unpredictable wilds of Africa to run the latest crop of celebrities through their paces in season 10 of I'm A Celebrity ... Get Me Out Of Here!

Callum Hole

Reality TV Star

Cheeky, naughty and wildly fun, Callum's electric personality and endless energy always keep things interesting. If his Welsh accent doesn't get you, his one-liners will and if all else fails, that personal trainer physique will keep your attention.

Entering the Love Island Australia villa for season four of the show, playboy Callum proved that banter and spontaneity are a recipe for fun but also disaster. Plenty of drama unfolded during his season with Callum finishing in the runner-up position.

His hilarious one-liners definitely won the show for Callum which saw him cast on Love Island Games. Love Island Games delivered a whole new legion of international fans as audiences enjoyed the cheeky charm that Aussies fell in love with the first time around. Callum lasted the entire season, finishing in third place.

Ellie Cole

Gold Medallist

Paralympian Ellie Cole is like no one you've ever met before.

After losing her right leg to cancer at the tender age of three years, at the 2020 Tokyo Paralympics she became Australia's most decorated female Paralympic athlete. With a record-breaking 17 Paralympic medals and an OAM and more recently an AM to her name, Ellie Cole is an extraordinary individual. Overcoming injuries and adversity, Ellie has risen to prolific heights and was honoured as the flagbearer at the Tokyo 2020 Closing Ceremony.

Ellie is incredibly passionate about the subject of diversity and inclusion, leveraging her strong platform as a media personality and former athlete to highlight important causes like #WeThe15 – a movement that endeavours for disability visibility and representation.

In 2020, Ellie featured in the Netflix original film Rising Phoenix, a documentary that explores global understanding of disability and the excellence that is encouraged by the Paralympic Games.

No stranger to the stage or screen, Ellie has been instrumental in a number of global initiatives to promote diversity and inclusion starring in WOWOW Japan's WHO I Am series, being invited to speak at the Cannes Lions in 2019 on the subject of diversity and inclusion not only in sport but in life, and closer to home partnering with her sponsors to deliver greater awareness of and support for the Paralympic movement and the disability community.

Ellie has appeared in countless magazines and broadcast programs across a variety of networks spanning the 7 Network, ABC, SBS, 9 and Network 10 and most recently was announced as a key member of the Channel 9 commentary team for the Paris Olympic and Paralympics Games in 2024 and as a regular host on 9's Wide World of Sports program. Ellie has been featured on the cover of and in the pages of countless magazines – including Womens Health and Body & Soul, Vogue, Harpers Bazaar, and many more.

It is Ellie's charisma and her unrivalled sense of humour that make her truly magnetic. She tells her inspiring story with her customary humility, never for a second dwelling on the odds she has beaten to be where she is today.

Frankie Muniz

Child Star

Former child actor turned racing car driver and musician Frankie Muniz is best known for starring as the title character in Malcom in the Middle.

Born in Wood-Ridge, New Jersey, Muniz grew up in North Carolina where he was discovered after appearing in a local production of A Christmas Carol playing Tiny Tim.

After appearing in several commercials, he made his movie debut in To Dance with Olivia in 1997, but his big break came several years later when he landed the title role in the sitcom Malcolm in the Middle. The pilot episode was watched by more than 23 million people and Muniz was shot into the spotlight overnight.

His role in the immensely popular Fox sitcom earned him two Golden Globe Award nominations and an Emmy Award nomination, and he went on to star in big screen roles in Big Fat Liar, Deuces Wild, Racing Stripes and Agent Cody Banks.

Named one of "Hollywood's most bankable teens" in 2003, he was considered one of the most popular child actors of his generation before putting his acting career on hold to pursue a career as an open-wheel racing driver. Muniz competed in the Atlantic Championship and at the Daytona International Speedway in the ARCA Menards Series in 2022.

Away from the worlds of acting and racing cars, the multi-talented Muniz was the drummer of indie rock group Kingsfoil from 2012 to 2014.

Although Frankie has taken numerous breaks from acting to enjoy success in the music industry and as a racing car driver he has continued to appear on screen in the likes of The Rookie and as a co-host of Dancing with the Stars: Juniors.

Peter Daicos

AFL Legend

AFL legend Peter Daicos is one of the Collingwood Football clubs most loved and decorated champions, who played his entire 250-game career with the club.

His silky and sublime skills had him referred to as the "Magician", and the "Macedonian Marvel" in reference to his parent's heritage.

His outstanding 549-goal, 15-year career earned him entry into the Australian Football Hall Of Fame in 1999. His honours include the 1990 AFL Premiership with Collingwood, and the 1991 Goal of the Year.

In 2005, one of his famous goals from the 1990 finals was featured in a Toyota "Memorable Moments" commercial. Commentators often refer to modern day goals being "Daicos like" as he pioneered highly calculated kicking of a goal that all but seemed impossible.

Since retirement, Peter has been a highly sought-after speaker at business and sporting events and is the father of current Collingwood star premiership players Josh and Nick.

In 2024, Peter is a weekly contributor on Seven's Sunrise Program and will do, as his time permits, occasional commentary on Radio 3AW for their live AFL broadcasts.
